

FAST FACTS

On climate and the physical science

Human activities

scale of recent changes affects every region

sharp reductions in greenhouse gas emissions more the world warms, the greater the changes intensify the global water cycle, the ocean and land will be less effective discernible effects on greenhouse gas and aerosol concentrations and air quality.

